Local Woman Chosen as Finalist for ChildFund's Facebook Promotion

Finalist is one of five in the nation to possibly travel across the globe to visit their sponsored child

Richmond, Va. – July 20, 2011 – Last month, Cheryl Honey of Branson West, Mo., thought she was only able to communicate with Lam, her ChildFund International sponsored child in Vietnam, through letters and photos. Now, because of a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, she may be able to meet Lam face-to-face, but she needs the public's help.

Honey is one of five randomly selected qualified finalists in ChildFund International's "The Experience of a Lifetime" Facebook promotion. The organization, which creates one-to-one connections through child sponsorships, created the promotion with its thousands of sponsors and children in mind.

"Take a second to imagine having the chance to visit a child you have a relationship with, but have never met," says Anne Lynam Goddard, ChildFund president and CEO. "To meet and see first-hand the impact made in a child's life will move an individual more than they could ever imagine."

Honey and the other finalists have each written an essay explaining why they should be chosen to visit their sponsored child. Followers of ChildFund International's Facebook page will be able to vote on the essays to support that person's quest for "The Experience of a Lifetime."

"Chase, my grandson, and I write and send pictures to Lam and his family often and feel like they are the family we never got to meet," says Honey. "We aren't a wealthy family and truly thought the chance of meeting Lam and his family was nothing more than a dream. Now, it seems, there is a possibility that our dream can become a reality."

Those interested in the promotion can:

- Go to Facebook.com/ChildFundInternational
- Select the "Experience of a Lifetime" tab (<http://apps.facebook.com/experienceoflife>)
- Review the essays and vote

Followers of ChildFund's Facebook page are allowed multiple votes, but only one vote per day. Voting begins on July 20 and runs through July 31.
