

Children in Crisis: Insights and Outcomes from ChildFund's 2017–2024 Americas Programs

ChildFund defines 'children in crisis' as all groups of children directly and indirectly impacted by displacement due to environmental and man-made crises. All three programs described here are multisectoral with emphasis on protection and economic strategies to address the unique needs of children and youth affected by displacement.

3 Programs at a Glance

- Mexico and Central America 2017–2021
Preventing Irregular Migration of Children and Youth
- Mexico 2021–2022
Support During Displacement of Children and Youth
- Ecuador 2022–2024
Reintegration of Populations After Displacement or Return

Target Groups:

Children at risk of irregular migration

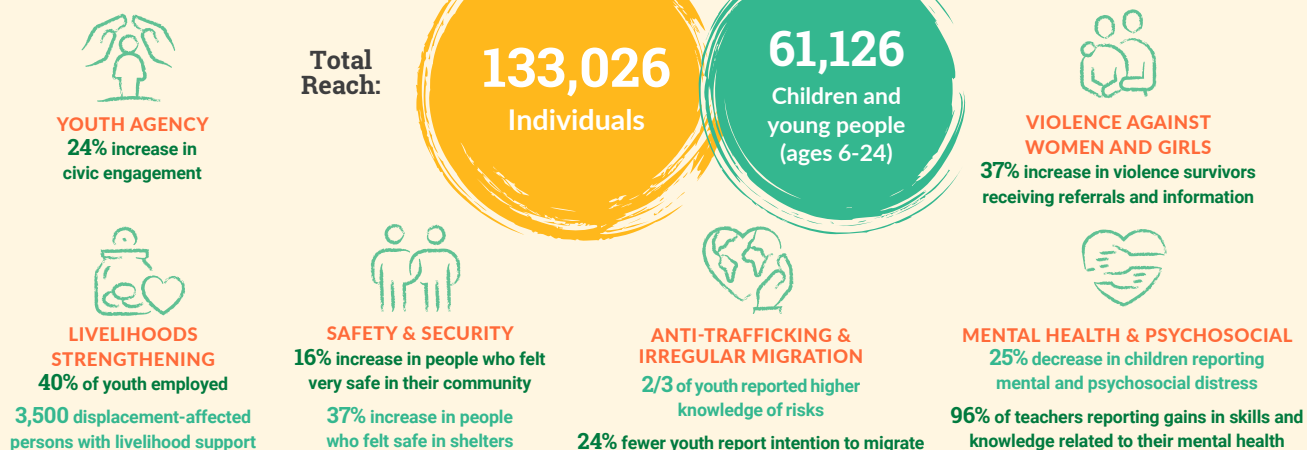

Children and families in transit

Populations vulnerable to or who are survivors of violence

90 Communities 11 Shelters

Key Program Outcomes

Program Best Practices

Strengthening Local Systems and Enhancing Community Capabilities

Mainstreaming Equity and Social Inclusion

Direct Engagement With People We Assist in the Program Cycle

LOOKING FORWARD

ChildFund aims to expand its Children in Crisis programming to 10 countries by 2030, ensuring comprehensive protection and support for vulnerable children, to help them reach their full potential.